THE TEST

The same message, twice. One change: the skill.

Write the follow-up after today's call. My notes:

Call with Gamma Tools (example) - contract renewal
Present: Sara (purchasing, Gamma Tools), me

- They want to renew road transport BE-NL and pick and pack.
- Sara asked for next year's price. I said I would send the 2027 rates.
- Their volume might go up about 10% in Q2. Not sure yet, she will confirm.
- They would sign for 2 years if the price is fixed for both years.
- We need their legal contact for the contract draft.
- Next call: early November.

Rough notes from a call with Gamma Tools, a made-up client.

BEFORE

No skill.

Drafting a follow-up email to Sara.

Subject: Follow-up: contract renewal – road transport BE-NL and pick and pack

Hi Sara,

Thank you for your time on the call today. Here is a short summary of what we discussed and the next steps.

What we discussed:
- Gamma Tools would like to renew road transport BE-NL and pick and pack.
- You may sign for two years if the price is fixed for both years.
- Your volume might increase by about 10% in Q2. You will confirm this once you know more.

Next steps:
- I will send you our 2027 rates by [date].
- Could you share the name and contact details of your legal contact? We need them to prepare the contract draft.
- Please let me know about the Q2 volume when it is confirmed, so we can take it into account.

I suggest we have our next call in early November. Would [day, date] at [time] work for you?

Kind regards,

Copy Connect your email

Before you send, fill in the brackets: the date you'll send the 2027 rates, and a proposed slot for the November call. If you're planning to quote a fixed 2027–2028 price, you could also say in the rates line that the quote will cover both years.

A good draft. But no owner per action, and no list of what is still open.

Subject: Follow-up: contract renewal

Hi Sara,

Thanks for the call today.

What we agreed:

- You want to renew road transport BE-NL and pick and pack.
- I will send you the 2027 rates.

Next steps:

- Send the 2027 rates - me - [date?]
- Confirm the expected volume increase in Q2 - Sara - [date?]
- Share your legal contact for the contract draft - [owner?] - [date?]

Open points:

- Your volume may go up about 10% in Q2. This is not confirmed yet.
- You would sign for 2 years if the price is fixed for both years.

Next contact: a call in early November.

Kind regards,
[your name]

Action, owner, date. Open points apart. [owner?] where the notes don't say.

THE RULE

A skill is a written procedure for one job.

Claude picks it by its description. Read a skill before you upload it: it is plain text.
